

"Let Me Drift"

Lyrics by Bill Nelson, Music by David Shenton

What if gravity vanished and we drifted, free?
All restraints were banished and we could just be?
I wouldn't want it to stay forever that way,
But I need something different.
I need that today.

Let me drift.
Everything is heavy.
I could lift it all away and just drift ...
Let me drift.

Let me sail.
Sail into the dark.
To no avail I've tried in life to learn to sail.
I need to sail.

I want to stop struggling and fighting and trying,
And I know the way.
It's to leave the world behind until
There's no part I have to play.

Let me drift.
Leave me in the quiet.
What a gift to let me disappear and drift.
Let me drift.

I'll turn off my thoughts,
Untie all my knots,
No thinking
No wishing
No hoping
Just drifting.
'Til black is all I know,
Breezes never blow,
There's no fast and no slow,
No high, but no low.

Let me drift away ...
I'll drift away ...
I'll drift away ...

Let me drift ...

© Bill Nelson, 2021